HEADTEACHER'S BLOG

17th January 2025

Dear Cavalry Families,

One of the many delights of being a Headteacher is that I'm never short of things to feel proud of; pupils, staff and families continue to go 'over and above' and do a super job. This week I am particularly proud of 'Safeguarding' at Cavalry.

For all staff this lies at the heart of what we do and during our audit this week it was highlighted as a particular strength of our school. However it wasn't just the staff. Our pupils did a fabulous job of detailing how we and they keep each other safe. The pupils did a marvellous job of voicing their knowledge and understanding. Well done all involved!

Another source of joy this week is the support and compliance we have received with our one-way system. The vast majority of pupils and parents are observing our new signage and are helping the start and end of the day to be a much safer and pleasant experience. There's only one-way to go around the one-way system!

Thank you all for your continued support with this.

This week, inline with our safeguarding work, we have introduced Worry Boxes into each of our classroom settings. This idea is to help children communicate messages/ ideas they have to help them feel more settled and safe at our school. Staff will check the boxes daily to listen to our pupil's voices.

This is set to be another action packed term so please look out and note down all the key dates for the Spring Term! Mrs Edwards :)
